

AKC National Agility Invitational Bulldogs 2006 - 2023

The inaugural AKC National Agility Invitational (NAI) event took place in December of 2006 and has been held annually since. It is distinctly different from the National Agility Championship (NAC) event that has been in existence since 1996. The NAI is breed specific. It is intended to showcase the top dogs in every breed (as well as the top mixed breeds referred to as All-Americans). Conversely, the NAC is not breed specific and is an event with very challenging eligibility criteria intended for the top agility dogs irrespective of breed. Some breeds, therefore, may not be represented at the NAC.

To be eligible for the NAI, dogs must have a qualifying run in the Master level class (initially labeled Excellent B class) in Standard and/or Jumpers with Weaves during the qualifying period for the event. The qualifying period for each annual Invitational runs from mid-year of the previous year to mid-year of the year in which the event takes place (July 1 – June 30). At the end of each qualifying period, the top 5 ranked dogs for each Breed & All-American receive an invitation. The top dogs earn their rankings from points acquired during the qualifying period using the Top MACH or Top PACH Dog formula (Double Q's x 10) + MACH (Master Agility Champion) or PACH (Preferred Agility Champion) points. This formula awards each dog that qualifies in Master Standard and/or Master Jumpers with Weaves, 10 points for each set of Double Qs, plus speed points - 1 point for each full second under the allotted time that has been set for the course.

For the 2006 thru 2010 Invitationals, only the Regular Standard and Regular Jumpers with Weaves classes were included for rankings/invitations. Starting in 2011, the Preferred Standard and Preferred Jumpers with Weaves classes were added to the rankings/invitations. Priority for invitations is given to rankings in the Regular classes. The top 5 in the Regular classes automatically qualify for an invitation, but only the top 1 in the Preferred classes automatically qualifies. If there are five dogs in the Regular classes, only the top one dog in the Preferred classes will receive an invitation, so in that case, 6 dogs in those breeds get invited. If there are not 5 dogs with rankings for the Regular classes, then invitations will be extended to the top dogs in the Preferred classes to complete the 5 slots available per breed.

If a Top 5 invited dog cannot attend (e.g., is deceased, has health issues, can't travel, has been retired) or the owner chooses for any reason to not enter a Top 5 dog when first round invitations go out, the owner may decline the invitation and notify AKC that the dog will be opted out. Then, the next dog down in the rankings that was not initially invited, will be included in a second round of invitations. This process allows for a full complement of competitors when more than 5 dogs per breed meet the eligibility criteria.

The NAI is a competitive event, meaning that defeating other dogs is necessary to win as participating dogs vie for Top Dog in their breed and also Top Dog in their height division. Faults are allowed with just points off. Runs do not count as Qs toward titles.
